

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

Harry Sommers is fishing again this season, but not in the Gulf of Mexico.

It would be a pity to have to send von Bernstorff home. We've learned to like him.

There are indications that we will stop seining for minnows in Mexico, for awhile at least.

The Williams impeachment trial drags its slow length along at an expense of $500 a day.

That Villa story didn't fool anybody. Funston is from Kansas and Kansas adjoins Missouri.

Roosevelt's plans are being carefully laid to capture two nominations for President at Chicago, in June.

If we have to handle two wars at once, we might turn Mexico over to Texas. The Lone Star boys did it once.

The French have captured the submarine which torpedoed the Sussex and have made prisoners the captain and crew.

Forty-two seniors of Princeton University say they have never been kissed. The strange part is that all but 42 should have fessed up.

The pursuit of Villa is at a temporary halt while matters of more importance are being settled at Washington. Villa has escaped, most likely with the aid of Carranza forces. It would be just as well to occupy Vera Cruz and other ports, to remain until Carranza makes good his boast that he can catch Villa.

Alonzo Miley and wife separated and in dividing their household goods got into a row at Petersburg, Ind., in which Miley was attacked by his mother-in-law, his wife and sister-in-law, one of them flourishing a revolver. With a bed slat he broke the arms of two of the women and knocked the other unconscious.

The Louisville Board of Trade's spring trade extension trip next month will cover West and Middle Tennessee exclusively, according to the itinerary announced by Secretary William E. Morrow, and overnight stops will be made by the "heads of houses" special in Memphis, Nashville and Fayetteville. They will touch Clarksville in the round and will probably find it hard to resist the temptation to come to town.

STREET IMPROVEMENT

Given Its First Passage and Property Owners To Be Conferred With.

The meeting of the City Commission Tuesday was without especial importance, except that an ordinance was given its first passage providing for the permanent improvement of South Main street from 12th to the city limits, with bitulithic, asphalt, brick or wooden blocks, under the ten-year-payment plan. It is proposed to take the sense of the people interested on the character of street to be built and bring the ordinance up for further consideration at the end of thirty days.

An expert was employed to report on the cost of constructing a sewerage system and also to appraise the present system with the view of entering into negotiations for its purchase on or before the next purchasing period April 7, 1920. The present franchise expires in 1925.

GERMAN CRISIS LAID BEFORE THE CONGRESS

STREET OIL AND WATER

Two Sets of Advocates Have Widely Divergent Views.

SOME ONE, SOME OTHER

Water Advocates in the Majority at Monday Night Meeting.

A meeting of the residents on South Main and South Virginia streets, was held at the H. B. M. A. Monday night to consider the dust situation.

Last year the territory from 12th street south to and including Alumnae avenue was sprinkled by contract by M. C. Boyd & Co., for about $1,100, each property owner paying $8. The sprinklers ran twice a day on week days and once on Sunday.

There were 55 persons represented in the meeting Monday night and 34 voted for water sprinkling again and 21 for oil. The same contract made last year can be made again this year for water, but there is much difference of opinion on the kind of sprinkling.

Nearly all of the property owners on Main street out to 17th prefer oil and some are very emphatic in saying that they will not take water at any price.

Developments, yet undisclosed and of the most solemn importance, are expected to follow quickly.

An ultimatum to Germany and even the severance of diplomatic relations are two most likely eventualities.

VON BERNSTORFF REFUSED INTERVIEW.

Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, calling upon Secretary Lansing by direction of his government, almost the moment the president was arranging the joint session of congress, was informed that the secretary could not discuss the situation with him at this time. It was evident that the ambassador was seeking information of the American government's plans and that it had been decided he should not have it.

The ambassador did state, however, to Secretary Lansing that while under no circumstances could Germany give up the submarine because it was being used in retaliation for Great Britain's food blockade, his country would attempt to use the submersibles in accordance with the international law and Germany's assurances to the United States. He added that in any case where instructions to submarine commanders were violated reparation would be made, in accordance with assurances given in the Lusitania, Arabic and other cases.

Administration officials reflected President Wilson's determination to have an ending to diplomatic negotiations which they feel, have brought only promises which have been unfulfilled and assurances which have turned out to be of disputed meaning.

There is only one instance in modern diplomatic history in which a breaking off of diplomatic relations between two first class powers has not eventually been followed by war.

It is the breaking of relations between Germany and Italy, and it stands alone as a precedent against what diplomats regard as inevitable.

ONLY CONGRESS CAN DECLARE WAR.

President Wilson's purpose in going before congress is explained by the fact that while the executive branch of the government has power to break diplomatic relations, congress alone has the power to declare war, and the president feels, therefore, that it should be advised of an action in which it may subsequently be called upon to bear a part.

NEPHEW OF WASHINGTON

Court House Filled With Ap-

preciable Crowd to Hear

Colored Orator.

Roseoe Conkling Simmons, a nephew of Booker Washington, and a negro orator of great importance, spoke at the Court House Monday night under the auspices of the Douglass Club. Ned Turner, President, presided and Walter Robinson introduced the speaker. Blakemore's orchestra made music.

Simmons is an orator of recognized ability and his speech was an appeal to the colored people to have higher ideals in every way and to make of themselves useful, respectable and honored citizens as so many have done here in Hopkinsville. He also pleaded for harmony and mutual sympathy between the races, showing how this has always existed in individual instances as each white man has one or more negroes upon whom he relies implicitly for help when he needs it and every colored man has a white man friend to who he goes when in need or trouble. But he urged that the good conditions not stop there but be extended to take in the two races as a whole.

CAMPBELL-ALLEN.

A marriage license was issued Monday afternoon to Samuel W. Campbell and Miss Mary Settle Allen, young people of near St. Elmo, and the wedding was scheduled for yesterday.

In closing he complimented Phil Brown, saying he was a prominent figure in his race not only in Hopkinsville or Kentucky but of the nation.

El Paso, Tex., has 61,902 population.

ULTIMATUM AND BREAK IN RELATIONS MOST LIKELY

Message President Has Been Working On Has Been For Congress and Not to Dispatch to Germany, as Generally Supposed.

Count von Bernstorff, Seeking to Learn Position of the United States, Is Refused an Audience by Secretary Lansing.

Washington, Apr. 19.—President Wilson laid the submarine crisis before congress today.

In the hall of the house of representatives at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, with congress seated before him in joint session, the president spoke the last words of the United States to Germany in the grave situation which has kept the two nations on the brink of a break for nearly a year.

Developments, yet undisclosed and of the most solemn importance, are expected to follow quickly.

An ultimatum to Germany and even the severance of diplomatic relations are two most likely eventualities.

ART EXHIBIT

Colored Orator.

The Art Exhibit at the Carnegie Library of paintings by Chicago artists, began yesterday and will continue every day until Saturday from 2 to 5 p. m. and also tonight the exhibit will be open.

Each afternoon some one will be at the Library to give information about the paintings.

Three of the pictures in this exhibit that are much admired are "Peaceful Valley," which is so restful to your eye and feelings that you never could grow tired of the picture; "The Evergreens," which are beautiful cedars shown with the last showy rays of sunlight in their tops and the clouds in the distance have caught the light on their top edges, while the rest of the earth is in twilight; "The Mountains of Santa Barbara," which is grand to behold!

The only artist from Kentucky who is represented at the Exhibit is Walter Ufer, who was born in Louisville. He paints in the southwestern part of the United States from June to December of each year. The three pictures he has here on exhibition are paintings of this great southwest.

One of the results of the war, perhaps, is a sharp advance in the price of paintings by good American artists. The beauty of the best American landscapes is just beginning to be

WAS OPENED LAST NIGHT FLEET AIDS LAND FORCES

Continues Throughout Today With Gov. Stanley a Speaker.

Louisville's biggest annual convention, that of the Kentucky Educational Association, which is the largest organization of its kind in the world, began its sessions at the First Christian church at 8 o'clock last night. The opening programme will consist of "An Evening With Cale Young Rice," the noted Kentucky poet, and it will be the only session of the entire convention open to the public.

The opening programme will consist of "To the Younger Generation," "The Monsoon Breaks" and "The Mystic." He had intended reading only the first poem, but yielded to numerous requests to read also the other two.

Another feature of the programme was the appearance of Miss Ida M. Tarbell, of New York.

The Kentucky Educational Association has a paid membership of approximately 3,700 and an associate membership of about 1,000 more. Practically all the members and associate members attend the annual conventions, as well as from 1,000 to 2,000 other instructors from over the State.

All school authorities in the State are co-operating this year in making the convention memorable. Gov. Stanley will speak to-day.

Both white and colored teachers attend these meetings and Hopkinsville is represented by the following: W. H. White.

The Worcester Museum has just purchased Winslow Homer's "A Great Gale" for $30,000, which is believed to be the highest price ever paid for an American picture. "Sunset, Montclair," by Inness, lately sold for $24,000, and a Wyant for $12,000.

On Tuesday night they held a similar meeting in the Sinking Fork neighborhood and about the same line of talk was indulged in.

Good results are expected from these visits to localities that have not had meetings of the kind heretofore.

RUSSIANS TAKE TREBIZOND

Teachers In Attendance at Annual Session of K. E. A.

FORTRESS REPORTED TO BE GARRISONED BY 54, 000 MEN.

Petrograd, April 19.—Trebizond, the most important Turkish city on the Black sea, has been captured by the Russians.

The fall of the city is confirmed in an official communication issued late today.

IMPORTANT PORT IN BLACK SEA

Trebizond is a city of Asia Minor on the Black sea, 575 miles east of Constantinople and 100 miles north of Erzerum, the town stormed by Russians on Feb. 16. Trebizond has a population of about 40,000, including some 18,000 Christians.

The importance of the Black sea port was due to its command of the port where the chief trade route from Persia and central Asia descends to the sea. It is separated from the rest of Asia Minor by a barrier of rugged mountains, 7,000 to 8,000 feet high, which the Russian armies had to traverse.

Aided by the Russian fleet, the invaders pushed past the last series of natural obstacles along the coast when, on Sunday, they occupied a strongly fortified Turkish position on the left bank of the Kura Dere, 12 miles outside of the fortress.

Since the fall of Erzerum and the capture three weeks later of Bitlis the Turks are said to have increased the Trebizond garrison until it contained three complete divisions, or about 54,000 men, and to have done everything possible to strengthen the Black sea port.

County Agent Visits Neighborhoods Anxious For Agricultural Talks.

Agriculturist A. M. Casey, accompanied by Otis Kircher, State Agent of Pig Club work, has visited some new fields of work this week. Monday night they held a largely attended meeting at Kelly, probably 125 people being present.

Mr. Casey talked to the people about the importance of more grass on their hillsides to stop washes and incidentally of the money to be made in live stock and especially in fruits, for which North Christian is well adapted. A diversity of crops would make farming much more profitable in that part of the county. He also told them about the poultry work, the corn clubs and other lines. Mr. Kircher talked about the pig clubs and the people showed a lively interest in all that was said.

On Tuesday night they held a similar meeting in the Sinking Fork neighborhood and about the same line of talk was indulged in.

Good results are expected from these visits to localities that have not had meetings of the kind heretofore.

Enforcement of the negro segregation ordinance of St. Louis was enjoined by the federal district court.

The U. D. C. organization has petitioned Congress to officially designate the Civil war as the "War Between the States."

The Bowling Green Post T. P. A. is boosting W. C. Sumpter for president and is after the 1917 meeting. The Post has 140 members and will have a big delegation here on the 28th and 29th.

But little credence is given the report that Villa is dead. The attempt of the Carranza leaders to palm off
the decomposed body of another Mexican as that of Villa, is in keeping with the general character of Mexicans.

The Supreme Court of the United States ordered the rearrangement of the Louisville segregation ordinance. The opinion is expressed in Washington
that the case is of such importance that Chief Justice White perhaps desires a full bench to hear the argument.

The Henderson Fiscal Court is being referred to in anything but a complimentary manner, as a body
that refused to appoint a commission to handle road bond funds. As a result, the friends of the road proposition will defeat the $400,000 bond issue, rather than see the money get into the court's hands.

In the communication approved by the President as the last word to Germany on the submarine question, he reviews Germany's submarine activities since the Lusitania was sunk
almost a year ago and makes plain that only an immediate change in the German policy can make possible the continuance of friendly relations between the two nations.

Capt. Franz von Papen, recalled
military attache to the German ambassary at Washington, was indicted by the federal grand jury at New York as the organizer and financier of an alleged conspiracy to blow up the Welkand canal in Canada. With him also were indicted Capt. Hans Tau-scher, alleged agent of the Krupps in the United States and husband of Mme. Johanna Gadski, the prima donna;
Constantine Govani, Alfred J.
Fritzen and another man whose name has not been revealed. Von Papen was designated by federal authorities
as the "brains" of the alleged conspiracy.

In an address welcoming the Daughters of the American Revolution, gathered in Washington for their annual congress, President Wilson declared that the only excuse America ever can have for the assertion of her physical force is that she asserts it in behalf of humanity. He was speaking of the purpose of the republic—
born to serve the rest of the world
just as much as itself—and had just said that the nation will have forgotten such traditions whenever she fights merely for herself under such circumstances as will show that she had forgotten to fight for all mankind.
The president was enthusiastically applauded. When he was introduced by Mrs. William Cumings Storey,
president-general of the organization,
the audience stood and cheered and many of the women waved the American flags.

COULD NOT HAVE HER LOVE

Young Lady's Objections to the Advances of Her Wooer Were Based on Solid Reasoning

A pacifist said at a dinner: "I find that the people themselves, not the capitalists, are to blame for the continuance of war. With this specific excuse and that, the people reject universal peace."

"In short, the people treat pacifism
as the pretty girl treated the shipping clerk.

"No, I can't marry you," she said
to the shipping clerk after he had proposed. "You see, you are too extravagant."

"Me extravagant?" shouted the shipping clerk. "Me? Why, on the contrary, dearest one, I'm very economical. I have to be."

"Then more than ever I feel," she said, "that I cannot be your wife."

"You can't be my wife because I'm economical?" he gasped, bewildered by her shifts and changes.

"No; oh, dear, no," she answered
"But because you have to be."

NEW TINT OF COMPLEXION

Peach Pink is the Color Just Now Affected by the Fair
Parisian.

The pretty girls with their rosy faces passed and repassed for some time before I realized that, one and all, they were exactly the same shade
of rose, or rather pink—a bland, peachy sort of pink with almost a tinge of salmon. Could this be a new complexion? I sat up, forgetting my faintness, while peach pink face
after peach pink face came and went.

Two days later on l'Avenue du Bois de Boulogne I encountered the same coloring—every face "rouged," so to speak, with the same brush. One little Parisienne wore a close low turban of peach pink satin, quite untrimmed, which exactly matched her complexion. The effect was very odd, and quite different from that of some seasons ago, when the oriental idea reigned supreme. Now, instead of the "hour," we have the Sevres statuette to go with the new gowns.—

Animals Not Worth Hunting.

Lion and wildcat are seldom hunted
in Panama, except by bushmen, who wait for them alongside the clearings at night, when they come to raids the chicken yards. The cats have beautifully spotted skins, but a pelt
that measures over four feet from tip

are larger, but the hair is coarse and the plain black or tawny bides are not pretty. Pelts of both kinds can be

THE ARMY TITLE ORIGINS

Names of Official Positions Go Back to Greek and Roman Days—Some Curious Derivatives.

An article on the origin of the names
of weapons of war has led us to speculate fully on the origin of rank in the army, with more or less interesting results.

We find that "private" comes from the Latin "privatus," meaning deprived. Probably that's because the humble private is deprived of the privileges of his officers; or maybe it is because he is deprived of his freedom.
At any rate the Latin term is prettier than the Greek. The Greek private soldier was called "idiotes" and he was supposed to be so ignorant that we derive the word "idiot" from him.

"Corporal" is corrupted from "cap-oral" and its root is the same as that of "captain," from "caput," a head. The corporal is a sort of head private, in theory. A sergeant is higher rank, but the derivation of his title is lower; for
"sergeant" is from the low Latin "serviens," meaning a servant.

"Captain," we have considered; its earlier form is "capitan" and it is thus in the Spanish. "Lieutenant" is "loc-cum tenens"—one who takes another's place. The old English form was
"lieutenant," and from that pronunciation
"lieutenant" still lingers in England.
"Major" is simply the Latin word for "greater" and "mayor" is only another form of the word in a different application. "Colonel" is from the Italian "colonnella," meaning a little column. How the little column or regiment, gave its name to the commander thereof is somewhat uncertain.
"Cadet" is an interesting word. It comes from the Gascon "cadet," and means a little captain, or the youthful member of a "head family."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

ALASKAN CLIFF DWELLERS

Residents of Ketchikan Must Climb Stairway Up Mountainside In Order to Reach Homes.

Ketchikan, Alaska, lies right on the water. The mountains, says the Christian Herald, rise in green walls behind it. Their tops are sprinkled with snow, and great rocks show out through the overgrown trees that cover their sides. Two houses are built on the rocks.

The harbor is in the shape of a half moon protected by islands. It has no beach to speak of and the business part of the town rests upon piles. The streets are planked roadways upon piles, and much of the freight is carried about on trucks and carts pushed by men. There are several horses, but horses are unpopular, for their hoofs roughen the planks, and they shake the town as they trot through the streets. Of late automobiles and motor delivery trucks have come in and these will probably be the future traffic conveyancers.

The residence section of the city is located in the sides of the cliff higher up. It is so steep that you have to climb stairways to reach certain streets, while other streets have winding roadways of boards upon which slats have been nailed to the planks
to keep one from slipping. The Ketchikaners make you think of the tree
dwellers, who have to climb ladders
to get to their homes.

France Bars Imported Trucks.

The French government recently disposed of 740 motor trucks, used in the war since August, 1914, at public auction. The trucks were originally fitted with motor-bus bodies and were running in the streets of Paris. At mobilization they were commandeered and have been used in transporting meat and other provisions. New French-made chassis have taken their places and the government sold the old trucks. Thereafter all imported trucks will be "run to destruction" and then replaced by domestic product. France announces its intention of using no more imported trucks in the war.

Sherman's Phrase Indorsed.

General Sherman's epigram, "Wats hell," has an apt paraphrase in a personal letter recently received from a surgeon of the British forces in Flanders: "This war, as I see it here, in the trenches," he says, "may be summed up in three words—mud, blood and blasphemy." The atmosphere of Flanders, it will be remembered by readers of "Tristram Shandy," is conducive to profanity—
"Our armies swore terribly in Flanders," said Uncle Toby.

English Woman "Man" Cars.

Woman tram conductors have now appeared on the electric cars of the Leeds (England) Corporation tramways. The first corps, composed of 20 young women dressed in blue serge tunics and skirts with red facings and wearing uniform caps, has proved satisfactory, and it is stated that the number to be employed may reach 200. The rate of pay proposed is the same as that of the men.

FISHERS FEAR MONSTER EEL

Giant Deep-Sea Reptile Attacks Men as Well as Destroying the Shellfish.

Fishermen not only hate the monster murana— they fear him. He robs the sea of shellfish and other inhabitants that the fishers want him to leave for their nets. In addition, he isn't backward about attacking a fisherman now and then. This bold outlaw received his name from the Romans.

The murana is a deep-sea eel. His weapons of attack are two rows of sharp teeth, strong enough to crush the hard-shelled fish on which he feeds. They range in size from snake-like creatures, about a foot long, in the Mediterranean, to monsters six and eight feet long.

These giants the fisherman fears, for they will attack him either in or out of the water. Their bodies are spotted or decorated in varied colors.

For the most part these eels inhabit seas in the tropic or temperate zones, but a few will ascend rivers where there are tides.

REALLY CALL OF THE WILD

Physician Describes Spring Fever Feeling as Return of Primitive Impulse in Man.

Spring fever is not a disease, but an expression of a desire to chuck one's job and answer the call to the wild, according to Dr. W. A. Sawyer, secretary of the California state board of health.

"Whether man is descended from a monkey or from Adam and Eve, who roamed about the Garden of Eden, there is that inherent longing to play and bask in the sun when spring first appears," said Doctor Sawyer. "It is certain that our forefathers, whether man or monkey, used to celebrate the opening of spring by lazily basking in the sun, and it is that longing on our part to do likewise which we call spring fever."

PASSPORT TO THE FRONT.

The only passport to the front which it not fraught with a thousand difficulties is a simple little telegram. With it a woman—it is nearly always a woman—can leave London, get aboard ship, pass through Boulogne, and arrive at the front without any other document, the London Chronicle states. But it is not a passport that any woman would wish to have, for that little telegram is sent only to the relative of some soldier abroad who is dangerously ill.

The church army has a special branch which looks after the woman who receives the sad summons. The army sisters meet her in London; she stays the night, if need be, in one of their homes. She is escorted to the train for the front, and is met at Boulogne. She gets to the base hospital, and then her dear boy sees her and smiles happily, and, perhaps, receives his last promotion. But very often these dangerous cases recover, and there are joyous hours before the journey home is made.

The war office helps women in very poor circumstances, and the church army frequently makes the way easy, too.

NO ESCAPE.

"Do you think you will succeed in arresting that criminal who writes you impudent letters?"

"Yes," replied the police officer; "if we don't get him on this charge we'll get him on something else. I understand he uses an automobile, and sooner or later he's bound to get arrested under the traffic regulations."

Avoid Spring Colds.

Sudden changes, high winds, shifting seasons cause colds and grippe, and these spring colds are annoying and dangerous and are likely to turn into a chronic summer cough. In such cases take a treatment of Dr. King's New Discovery, a pleasant Laxative Tar Syrup. It soothes the cough, checks the cold and helps break up an attack of grippe. It is already prepared, no mixing or fussing. Just ask your druggist for a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery. Tested and tried for over 40 years.—Advertisement.

Passing Judgment.

It is possible for no one to acquire more than a limited amount of the results of culture, to form an entirely original judgment other than in a few isolated cases. But each one can learn to understand that it is a mark of culture not to pronounce judgment upon questions with which he is not conversant. Good taste prescribes that just as one refuses to wear false jewels if one possesses no real ones, so one should refrain from pronouncing judgment upon persons or questioners upon which one has not formed an opinion through one's own impressions. When this honesty begins to be considered a mark of spiritual refinement, then will the culture of woman (for instance) have made quite as great advance as when she learned to read.—Ellen Key.

RANGERS

Carry Two and a Half Pound
Telephone.

PURELY PERSONAL.

Washington, April 18.—A portable telephone, made of aluminum and weighing 2½ pounds, the invention of a Forest officer, R. B. Adams, of Missoula, Montana, will be a part of the regular equipment of patrolmen on the National Forests the coming season. This instrument is regarded as a great improvement over the set formerly used, which weighed ten pounds.

It is said that a field man equipped with this telephone, a few yards of light emergency wire, and a short piece of heavy wire to make the ground connection can cut in anywhere along the more than 20,000 miles of Forest Service telephone lines and get in touch with the headquarters of a supervisor or district ranger. To talk, one end of the emergency wire is thrown over the telephone line, the two ends are connected to the portable instrument, and the instrument is connected to the ground wire, the end of which must be thrust into the damp earth or in water. Contact with the line wire is made possible by removal of the insulation from a few inches of the emergency wire.

The Adams instrument does not ring the bell of the receiving telephone, but instead causes a screeching sound from a small megaphone-shape apparatus descriptively known as a "howler." This instrument is installed at the range station telephone and is said to effective notice that some one is on the line. If the field man needs to talk with some one elsewhere on the line, the ranger station instrument can be used to ring up the person wanted, when the conversation can be carried on.

Forest officers say that these portable phones are especially valuable in reporting fires and other emergencies with the least possible delay, and also in sending instructions to field men and keeping the district rangers informed as to the progress of work going on in the field, thus supplementing the regular telephone sets installed at lookout points, ranger stations, and at convenient intervals along Forest Service roads and trails.

CAT FEEDS STARVING DOG

Strange Pair Live Eight Days on Dried Elk Meat Which Pussy Furnished Companion.

Deputy Game Warden Brown is looking for the hunter who killed an elk in the foothills of the Olympics and left the greater portion of it dried in a small cabin, says the Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

Brown's discovery of the elk meat deals with the wanderings of an Alendale dog.

Brown borrowed the dog from a friend when he started into the hills on a general hunt for lawbreakers, and when well up in the mountains he lost the dog. He failed to locate the animal, and later came to town, thinking it had returned to its home. When he arrived he found that the dog had not appeared, so he started out again to try to locate the animal. Brown luckily stumbled upon a small cabin well up in the mountains, and here found the dog. Brown investigated the shack and found it well supplied with elk meat, but on the rafters was a small domestic cat that had become wild. The dog had come across the cat, which had sought refuge in the rafters of the cabin. When hungry the cat ate the dried elk meat and dropped pieces to the dog below, both living for more than eight days in this manner.

SYMPATHY FOR A BACHELOR

Never Since History of Man Began Has He Been the Marked Man He Is Today in Europe.

If single men continue to be singled out as victims for tax collectors and recruiting sergeants, the great trinity of human rights will be changed to read, "life, liberty and matrimony." For where can the bachelor find happiness in a world that marks his income as the first to be seized by a spacious state and his precious person as the first to be exposed to the enemy's bullets?

Never since the history of man began has the bachelor been the marked man he is today, a writer in the Brooklyn Eagle asserts. In England Premier Asquith's famous promise was given to the married men, the conscription bill excepts the married men, the state supports the wives and children of enlisted married men. In France the state supports not only the legally established wives but those whom soldiers acknowledge as their "wives," the assumption being that the legal ceremony will follow when the war comes to an end. Thus even the man who promises to become married is favored by the state.

And as for taxes, the bachelor has long been the victim of his own discretion. Even Uncle Sam, who is ordinarily the least given to making invidious distinctions among his citizenry, grants the married man a $1,000 exemption on the income tax. In Europe the discrimination against the bachelor is much more marked—so marked, in fact, that bachelorhood is more of a luxury than a limousine.

HENRY FORD IS REAL CANDIDATE

Washington, D. C., April 17.—Henry Ford is a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination. Encouraged by his victory in Michigan over Senator William Alden Smith, his representatives, who have been here, have gone to Philadelphia and Harrisburg and on next Tuesday Ford papers as candidate in the presidential race will be filed at Harrisburg.

It is understood that Rudolph Spreckles, of California, who organized the Wilson Republican club in 1912, is backing Henry Ford and that the latter will seek to secure delegates in those states in which delegates have not yet been selected, chiefly as the representative of those in Republican party who oppose Roosevelt and Roosevelt's extreme preparedness policy.

Ford has already filed in the Nebraska primary.
